Here's How! Ubyssy!

Looking for a place to spend some happy days
Where it's not expensive, or bad in other ways,
Father took a fancy that the West he's try,--
But there must be mountains, and it must be dry (sic Dry).

It must not be sultry, it must be cold,
Yet it must be sunny, with a twilight gold;
And it must have beaches where children play,--
LEARNING, too, he looked for, and so he came this way

ENVOI:

He thought Vancouver was a likely spot,
For its nights are cool and soft, but its days are not:
He liked the landscape and the open sea,
But the best of all he like the U.B.C.

And he quickly made his mind up, it would enhance
The family fortunes, to seize his chance;
Meanwhile he hunted, and golfed, and fished,
In fact--did everything he once had wished:

But that's some year's gone, yet he thinks the same;
He's a real Old-timer now,--but belies the name:
His toast today is (though the glass lacks foam):--

"HERE'S HOW! UBYSSEY!!
"THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE HOME!!!"

Here's How! Vancouver!!
